Reuter pleaded self-defense and then King explained how the attack came about. He said he sold his wife to Reuter for $10 several months ago, and since then the pair had lived together. After trying single life, King concluded that Reuter had not paid enough for his spouse, and he called for a raise. Reuter refused, and was struck in a fit of indignation, King said. Reuter denied the transaction. King then produced a thumb-marked contract in which the transfer was made, and tract in which the tre the sum was stated, with Reuter's signa-ture attached.

HILL'S ASTUTE PLEA

The Senator at the Saratoga Convention.

He Dilates Feelingly on the Duties of the Present Hour.

Gov. McKinley Opens the Campaign at Indianapolis — Republican Municipal Convention at San Francisco.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SARATOGA, Sept. 25.—The State Demoratic Convention to nominate candidates for Governor, Lleutenant-Governor and Court of Appeals Judge, was called to order here today by Senator Murphy, chairman of the State Committee. He named David B. Hill as temporary chairman. Mayor Gilroy of New York and Hon. D. L. Wood of Erie escorted Senator Hill to the platform, and there occurred a remarkable scene. The vast body of delegates stood on chairs, waving handkerchiefs and yelling themselves hoarse, as from different corthemselves hoarse, as from different cor-ners of the audience came demands of themselves hoarse, as from different cor-ners of the audience came demands of "Three cheers for Hill!" Pandemonium reigned for at least five minutes. Senator Hill stood pale and motionless until the applause had subsided, and then, at 1:20 o'clock, began to speak, partially extem-poraneously and partly from notes. He poraneously and partly from notes. He

"The unterrified Democracy of the Em-pire State assemble here today undismayed at the premature boasts and assumed con-fidence of our adversaries. We are not unaccustomed to their annual and moss covered game. The political bluff is re-newed this year with extraordinary vehemence and unblushing effrontery. If vain boasts alone can bring victory, their battle is indeed won before it is actually com-menced. But we beg to remind them that is indeed won before it is actually confmenced. But we beg to remind them that there has not been a campaign in this State during the past twelve years when they did not assume in August and September that they had carried it, when, in truth, during that whole period, with a single exception, victory has perched upon our banners on the first Tuesday in November of each year. We win our victories on election days, and not by exuberant bravado in convention halls. The unexpected victory of our opponents last fail has turned their heads, and rendered them arrogant and opinionated. They fail to recall the fact that the total vote polled was nearly three hundred thousand short of the full vote of the State. That victory they themselves did not anticipate, and their surprised leaders next day after election humorously attributed it to divine Providence, and not to Republican strength.

"With a united battery and a united tion humorously attributed it to divine Providence, and not to Republican strength.

"With a united battery and a united vote New York is still a Democratic State, and, if we are true to ourselves, will this year resume her place in the Democratic columns. Our opponents, by a vigorous beating of bogus political tom-toms and insistence upon petty and misleading local issues, seek to divert public attention from the unenviable record they made during the recent four years' control of the Federal government. The people, however, have not forgotten that it was the Republican administration which, in that ill-fated year of 1890, saddled the country with the unwise and vicious legislation which has since crippled its prosperity, endangered its finances and auxmented its public burdens."

"People remember that the Sherman silver-buillion purchase law was the product of Republican statesmanship and against the enactment of which every Democrat in Congress voted. It should be borne in mind that the financial panic was a Republican panic in its inception, continuance and disastrous effects.

"It was under a national Democratic administration that the Sherman and Federal-election laws were repealed and in the first year of the administration and in ensuing Congressional elections the spectacle will be witnessed for the first time in twenty-four years of State elections conducted as they ought to be, without Federal interference, dictation or intimidation.

"The enactment of the McKinley tariff

"The enactment of the McKinley tariff was the culminating atrocity of Repub-lican recklessness in legislation. It was the very personification of protectionism run mad. It was the inauguration of a run mad. It was the inauguration of a bage scheme of governmental partnership with private business interests. The reaction which followed in the elections in the fall of 1890 and was reiterated in the elections of 1892 was the natural and legitimate expression of the popular infiguration at the party which had basely surrendered to the mercenaries within its surrendered to the mercenaries within its own ranks and had bartered away the public good for selfish greed. We prom-ised the people that, if intrusted with power, this vicious un-American and ob-jectionable law should be repealed, and we rejoice today in the fulfillment of that pledge. The McKinley law has 'gone where the woodbine twineth;' gone to stay, never to be re-enacted by any political

"Without retracting a single word which "Without retracting a single word which I have uttered in the Senate in criticism of a measure, while engaged in the effort to perfect it and render it more acceptable, now that it has been passed, and become a law, it must be considered as a whole, treated largely as a party measure and contrasted with the McKinley law. Uninfluenced by any personal disappointments or any pride of opinion, I may be permitted to speak of the measure as it is—inothing extenuate, nor aught set down in malice."

is—nothing extenuate, nor aught set down in malice.

"Of its strictly tariff features, it may truthfully be urged that it is a vast improvement over the McKinley law, and will clearly demonstrate its superiority as time rolls on and the business in this country shall adjust itself to its provisions. It recognizes in part, at least, the Democratic doctrine of free raw material. It may be safely asserted that the new law will not cripple nor embarrass a single industry in the land, nor throw out of employment a single workingman, nor unduly stimulate overproduction on the one hand, nor exorbitant importations on the other.

"Fellow-Democratic of the Empire State, and of the country, the duty of this hour is not rash criticism of the Democratic leaders or Democratic measures; not mutual recriminations nor conflicting counsels, but it is a time for concilistion, for unity of purpose, for aggressive campaign. The control of both legislutive departments of the government is at stake in the coming election. Inter-party strife must now cease, and our attacks be reserved for the foes, who are already forging their lines of battle against us. Democratic national and State administrations may allke be loyally supported.

"The administration of our State gov-lines of battle against us. Democratic national and State administrations may alike be loyally supported.

"The administration of our State government, under Democratic auspices, has merited the public confidence. We have given to the State wise laws; we have reformed abuses; we have aided the cause of labri and we have contributed largely to the added greatness, prosperity and welfare of our grand old commonwealth. The Democratic party atands in this State, as it has ever stood, for that religious liberty which is guaranteed them by our Constitution, and I arraign the Republican party for its covert sympathy with and encouragement of the proscriptive spirit, which attempts to set up a religious test as a qualification for official preferent in this land of the free, and which is propagated by a certain political organization, which deserves execration at the hands of every fair-minded man, but which the Republican State Convention last week distinctly refused, though earnestly asked, to condemn."

Senator Hill declared that Gov. Flower was among the greatest Governors New York has ever had, and predicted that Gov. Sheehan, whom he designated as yours and brilliant, had a dazzling fulows:

"Sinking every prejudice, subordinating every selfish consideration, actuated only by high and patriotic motives, realizing how much is at stake to be won or lost, mindful of the grand tradition which belongs to the party of Jackson, Jefferson and Tilden; knowing that a united Democracy in this State means an old-fashloned Democratic triumph, let us buckle on our armor and together march like the Macedonian phalanx of old, with locked shields and measured tread, to the contest that waits us, with courage, with resolution, with confidence, believing our cause is just and that God and the right will surely give us the victory."

yiut and that God and the ngature is surely give us the victory."

Senator Hill was frequently interrupted by applause, particularly in his arraignment of the McKinley tariff. President Cleveland's name set the convention wild and Senator Hill's commendations were loudly cheered. When he alluded to the A.P.A. and condemned its methods, there was applause from almost every person in the house. Allusions to the record of Gov. Flower evoked very hearty applause. National Issues.—It congratulates the Democratic, administration on the careful and conscientious manner in which the business of the country is attended to by the appointment of efficient officers to the heads of public departments; congratulates the party upon the repeal of the Sherman law, which was eating out the vitals of the financial body politic; upon the repeal of the partisin legislation known as the Federal election law, which will lessen the expenditures of the nation by millions and promote purity of elections.

INDIANA'S CAMPAIGN.

Remarkable Speech by Gov. McKin ley-Gen. Harrison.

ley—Gen. Harrison.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 25.—Gov. McKinley, in a speech here today beginning the Republican campaign, opened with an eulogistic reference to the administration of President Harrison, under which, he sald, the country prospered as it had never prospered before or since. His address was devoted almost wholly to a discussion of the tariff, especially the effect never prospered before or since. His address was devoted almost wholly to a discussion of the tariff, especially the effect of the Democratic tariff law.

Gov. McKinley presented a phase of the law recently passed which was a startling surprise to the audience. The sugar schedule (schedule E.) he said, in effect provides for the continuation of the treaty of 1875, made with the King of the Hawaiian Islands, under which all sugar from those islands was admitted free. This provision was inserted by the Senate. "It gives the Sugar Trust," said Gov. McKinley, "an advantage which has not heretofore been suspected. The sugar production of the Hawaiian Islands is under the control of the Sugar Trust. That country is the field of its primary operations. The Democratic party took away from the sugar-raisers of the United States a bounty of $6,000,000 a year and bestowed a bounty of $6,000,000 a year on the sugar-producers of the Hawaiian Islands, giving them an advantage over not only the sugar-producers of the United States, but of the whole world outside of these islands."

The revolt of the Louisiana planters against the party which had smitten them so heavily was referred to by Gov. McKinley, who pointed out that it was the Republican party, so freely accused of sectionalism, which had conferred benefits upon the Southern planters, and which had conferred benefits upon the Southern planters, and which McKinley, who pointed out that it was the Republican party, so freely accused of sectionalism, which had conferred benefits upon the Southern planters, and which had been opposed by Democratic statesmen, and was removed as soon as the latter had an opportunity to do so.

"When we made the tariff law of 1890, and took away all the tariff from sugar, we gave to the cane-producers a bounty equivalent to the tariff, and we said in that law that the bounty should stand fifteen years. This is all whiped out by the law of 1894. What is there more sacred than a solemn contract made with our own citizens?"

Touching on the question of money, Gov. McKinley said: "Our money is all good, whether it be in silver, national bank notes or greenback, or treasury or gold or silver certificates—every dollar is good. To get the money out among the people is the serious problem today. To do this we must not only have something to sell, but be able to find somebody to buy. If we are compelled to keep it, we suffer the loss in whole or in part of wnat it costs us to produce it. The banks are filled with money. Money was never more plentiful or less employed than it is not. It is because it is not employed that we have the stagnation in business which distresses the country, and the reason it is not employed is because the invitation to safe and profitable investment is not presented. It is not the lack of money nor the kind of money that is the trouble, it is the lack of prosperous manufacturing and the absence of confidence and hope are everywhere manifested, manufacturers are busy and labor is employed, and when both are engaged therein, with a fair profit and with fair wages, then agriculture is prosperous, and money has free and healthy circulation."

Gen. Harrison spoke as follows:

"My fellow-citizens. The delightful duty has been assigned me by the State Central Committee of the Republican party to preside over this great meeting. I am to be its chairman, not as a speaker, and I congratulate you on that fact (laughter.) Two ye profession of studying business conditions.

"The last two years have been years of distress and disaster; the losses of them defy the skill of the calculator. It has been said, and I think not without reason, that they exceed the cost of the civil war.
These losses have not been class losses;
they have been distributed. The holder of stocks and bends had found his wealth shrinking, and so had the farmer and the workingman found his wages shrinking.
There has been a general participation in the calamities of the past two years as there was a general participation in the prosperity of the preceding years. The great national losses, like those of the civil war, have sometimes their adequate compensations. Great as was the civil war of the Union, we feel that it was adequately compensated in the added glory that was given to the flag and in the security that was given to our civil institutions and the unity of the nation (Cheers.)

"But the losses of the last two yaars have no such compensating thought. There is no good to be gotten out of them (laughter) except, or guidance. They seem to have been of a retributive nature. Like the swamp into which a traveler was unconsciously driven, that has no ameliorating suggestion except that they teach thim to keep on the foothills and on the roads that are on the hilltops. We were told the rich were getting richer and the poor poorer, and to cure that imaginary ill our political opponents have brought in a time which for everybody is getting poorer. (Great applause.) I think I remember to have heard once of an insortption on a tombstone that ran something like this: "Our Domocratic driends have passed a tariff bill that is approved, so far as I can learn, by six Democratic Senators and by nobody else. Mr. Cleveland has regulated tariff bill that is approved, so far as I can learn, by six Democratic Senators and by pobody else. Mr. Cleveland has regudiated it, and he declared it involves perflidy and dishonor; that it was so shameful in its character and influences that he would not even put his name to it. All the leading Democratic papers in the country have condemned it, both of the old stalwart variety, and the mugwump variety. The Democratic chairman of the Ways and Means Committee has condemned it, and the entire Democratic majority in the House of Representatives condemned it. Now that is a great misfortune. It is a misfortune that the Democratic party was not able to evolve a tariff bill that the party would accept as a settlement. Already we have a proclamation from Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Wilson that this is only the beginning of the crusade against our industries. Now that is a misfortune. If we could have been told by our Democratic friends that we were at the bottom of the well, dark, damp and dismal, we would have begun to look up to see whether we ceuted not find some star of hope. We would have begun to anoint our bruises and try to build some seaffold by which we might climb out. But we are told there are lower depths in store for us. So this country is to be held in a state of suspense. It can be ended in just one way, and that is by an overwhelming Republican victory in November. When New York gives Levi P. Morton 75,000 majority, and Indiana her State that have wavered fail again into line, and the next Congress is Republican, there will be an assurance that we have found the end of this disastrous condition. (Cheers.)

"It think the Ohio Democrats the other day declared all these disasters of which we speak came upon the country under the McKinley bill. Well, to be sure, the McKinley bill was a law until the 29th McKinley bill. Well, to be sure, the McKinley bill would be repealed. It was not a law in justice ing the old Democratic doctrine that the

He says: Bear secured the necessary tools with which they took up a number of rails, and then repaired to Canyon, staying there till the night of September 13, when they returned to San Pable bridge, tore down the fence on each side of the track, piled fuel under the bridge and set fire to it, totally destroying the bridge. "Do you anticipate any practical benefit from the work of the commission?" was asked of Commissioner Wright.

"The commission was in no sense one of arbitration," replied the commissioner, "as so many people suppose. The law only contemplated an official investigation of the strike—the determination of its causes and suggestions, tending to a remedy to be used as a basis of action, should any legislation looking to the correction of any existing evil be deemed necessary. The commission is in no sense a judicial body, and has no power to condemn any of the treaties. It will simply lay before the President an official investigation of the greatest strike in the history of the republic."

Exciting Chase After a Wild Steer by Chicago Police—A Bulldog Fur-nishes an Incident—Beef for the Cops.

OHECAGO, Sept. 25.—A Texas steer gave some of the policemen of Chicago the wildest chase last night they have had for many a day. It was also the cause of the most intense excitement among the people of the stockyards, Englewood, Grand Crossing, Woodlawn, Hyde Park, Windsor Park and South Shore, through which it passed in its wild career. The steer was one among a dozen carfoada of the wildest animals that ever came into the stockyards. The animal escaped, while being unloaded at the pens. Then several mounted cowboys starbed in pursuit of the animal, and chased it south, until it was lost in Englewood. Then, fearful lest the beast might do some person harm, the police were nodified, and requessed to aid in the capture. The message was sent to all the stations on the South Side; and transmitted to the officers. The order was issued to shoot the animal on sight. Several patrof wagons of officers took up the chase, and frequently shots in the direction of Stony Island avenue and loud police calls showed in which direction the bovine was headed, and the wagon dashed along in thot pursuit. Soon the animal and its pursuers entered the precincts of Hyde Park, and the clattering hoofs and the rattling wagons woke up the sleepy patrohmen, and another call for help was made. This time the Hyde Park wagon responded. Day began to dawn, and the tired and worn-out poffice finally saw the animal going in a gallop along Seventy-fifth street, and turn down Bond avenue. They started in pursuit, and, as they turned down Bond avenue, they saw a child, and the animal was making a direct line for it. The men blew their whistles and drew the attention of the child, and, seeing the danger, it ran screaming into a yard.

The steer then kept on Bond avenue and turned into South Shore. Here stood a Chicago patrol wagon directly in its path. Not hesitating a moment, the steer lowered its head and advanced. The position of the child, and, seeing the danger, it ran screaming into a yard.

OAKLAND, Sept. 25.—Dr. James T. Prackett is in considerable trouble just now, and there is a likelihood of more trouble of a very serious character in store for him if his wife carries out her threats. The doctor has offices at the address where he lives, and, on Sunday afternoon last, Mrs. Prackett called Officer Curtiss to go with her to a house on Curtiss to go with her to a house on Tenth street, occupied by Mrs. Troutt, where, she said, her husband was with Mrs. Troutt. The doctor was found there as the wife said, and she had her spouse locked up over night on a charge of dis-turbing the nears.

Mrs. Prackett' told a story which may get the doctor into trouble before the matter is over. She said when she first met Prackett she was working in Pasadena at the residence of Judge Rose, and he then represented himself as a single man. Mrs. Prackett, who was Rebeckah Elizabeth Barnes, listened to the honeyed words of the doctor, he was then a painter, and drew her hard-earned savings from the bank to the amount of between $600 and $700 and went with it to Sait Lake, where they were joined in wedlock according to the rites of the Mormon church.

Mrs. Prackett said that during all the time they were in Utah, drifting from one town to another, he was spending her money and never did a stroke of work. It was other women and too much flery liquor all the time. She supposed she was married to him and has a copy of the Mormon document which wedded her to him. She was always introduced by him as his wife and now, she says, he is trying to deny that she is his wife.

The couple came to San Francisco in September last, and then Prackett started in as a doctor, but Mrs. Prackett says he has no diploma. He only did indifferently in San Francisco, when the couple came to Oakland, where Mrs. Prackett says he has no diploma. #### HENRY MARTIN'S WILL,

The Case Goes to the Jury-Judge

The Case Goes to the Jury-Judge Coffey's Charge.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—The long-firawn contest ever the will of Henry Martin, the wealthy Trinity county miner, is nearly ended. The arguments of the law-yers were concluded late this afternoon, and Judge Coffey delivered his charge to the jury, which is to decide whether the estate shall be settled upon Henry Martin's widow or John Martin, Jr., the alleged child of Isabella Martin, widow of the testator's deceased brother, John.

Judge Coffey's charge was regarded as rather against the interests of the child. He stated that the jury should decide simply as to the genuineness of the alleged second will, the one in the boy's favor, and that the jury must be satisfied that Henry Martin wrote it before the will could be sustained; also that the proponent, the child, must prove the genuineness of the alleged second will by a preponderance of evidence. He charged furthermore that if the jury believed the child's mother, Isabella Martin, had fabricated or attempted to fabricate evidence in behalf of the child the presumption is raised that she believed the contention of the other side to be true.

In conclusion, the Judge told the jury that it has nothing to do with a criminal prosecution for forgery which might follow a verdict against the second will. The jury retired at 4 o'clock.

Baby John Martin has lost the fortune which his mother has tried to prove that the late Henry Martin had left to his nephew. The jury pronounced the will submitted by Mrs. John Martin in which Henry Martin left a large share of his big estate to her infant son a forgery. Judge Coffey denied this will to probate, and Mrs. Henry Martin will now come into possession of her husband's fortune.

The jury voted 10 to 2 that the second will was a forgery. Delmas asked that the jury be discharged, and that the court adjourned.

The fierce arraignment to which Greve L. Johnson was subjected by D. M. Delmas in his closing argument in the Martin case is likely to cause trouble between these lawyers. Attorney Linforth, Johnson's junior associate, says that Delmas sent Arthur Rogers, his associate, to Johnson facilities be avoided, and subsequently wrote a letter voicing the plea and telling Johnson that in his closing argument for Mrs. Henr

With that sum, it is said, Bolanos is to begin to raise an army and be prepared to co-operate with his chief. They took passage in the steerage in order to same as much money as possible.

his chief. They took passage in the steerage in order to same as much money as possible.

Mexican Consul Coney sccompanied Bolanos and Bustamente to the steamer and Introduced them to Capt. von Helms. Instead of being put into the steerage they were gvien a cabin on the upper deck. Near to their quarters was the stateroom of Gen, A Martinez of the Mexican army, Martinez is a great friend of the president of Mexico, and the men from San Salvodor as once fraternized. Martinez is one of the leading generals of the Mexicy army, and it was said on the St. Paul that he was sent up here to render whatever assistance he could to the refugees.

From present appearances Exeta will make Guatemala his base of operations. During the last war San Salvador compelled Guatemala to come to terms, and that country has been seeking a chance to get even ever since. With an army organized in Mexico, Exeta might marchinto Guatemala, and there join Bolanos, who would have prepared the way for him. Then, upon a favorable opportunity, they would invade San Salvador.

The Salvadoran government professes little hope of having Juan Clenfuegos returned to it. Attorney Pierson, who has represented the government of San Salvador in the extradition proceedings here, said today that he did not think Clenfuegos would be returned. He has no appeal except to the President, but strong influences are being brought to bear in that quarter for his release. Pierson said there is nothing in the rumors that Exeta was in danger of rearrest on other charges had he not left the country. The government had taken the only steps against him it intended to take.

tempted Murder.

STOCKTON, Sept. 25.—The man Janerro, who is accused by his wife of having bound her hands and feet in her home and with having set the building on fire, returned today from Fresno. He was at once placed under arrest. It is highly probable that Janerro had nothing to do with the fire and the supposition that the woman ited herself and fired the house seems to have gained confirmation by the appearance of Janerro.

The husband of the woman declares he knew nothing of the matter until informed by the arresting officer and he gives a good acount of his whereabouts. He claims he has been working in a vine-yard in Fresno county. Today the woman was brought face to face with the man, and she still stuck to her story. She is probably actuated by hatred, as her husband is said to have cruelly beaten her at different times. The case is a puzzle to the officers, but they are inclined to the belief that Janerro is innocent.

He Stole a Watch from Mrs. Johnson's Body.

Detective Goodmen arrested on Monday a young man named W. E. Scott, who is charged with having stolen a gold watch from the dead body of Mrs. C. J. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson, while walking down Spring street Saturday afternoon, was suddenly taken with a hemorrhage. Scott and another young man were standing on the sidewalk at the time and they assisted in carrying the lady into Littleboy's drug store. Mrs. Johnson soon afterward died and it was then found that her gold watch was missing. Scott had cut off the lady's belt and, thrown it to one side, and had asked the other young man, very innocently, where the watch was. The second young man replied that he had seen no watch and with that both went away.

After satisfying himself that neither the second man nor the woman who had assisted in earing for Mrs. Johnson, had stolen the watch, Goodman left word with Mr. Littleboy to notify him if Scott came in. The man didéturn up and started to make some inquiries of the druggist when the detective placed him under arrest. At first Scott denied emphatically that he had taken the watch, but he finally admitted the theft, stating that he had pawned the timepiece for $7.50. He claimed to be a printer and said he had come to the city to put up a press for the Dally Globe.

PROF. SWIFT'S TELESCOPE.

PROF. SWIFT'S TELESCOPE.

The Great Instrument is Now in MOUNT LOWE, Sept. 24.—(Special Correspondence.) Tuesday last was a memorable day in the history of science in Southern California. On that day the great 16-inch equatorial telescope of Dr. Swift was completed, and the same evening the distinguished astronomer pointed it to the heavens, to be astonished and delighted at the clearness and brilliancy familiar objects presented when seen in this peliucid atmosphere. In one portion of the heavens, doubtless often before swept over by the astronomer while in Rochester, he found four new nebulae, and the record of this discovery will be sent to every astronomical station in the world, as the first event of importance in Southern California's new observatory, for it is well known to astronomers that' we have nine degrees of unexplored heavens as the result of the southern location, and the clearness of the atmosphere arouses great expectations as to what will eventually be discovered.

Ever since Tuesday evening the revolving chart of the observatory has been filled with visitors, anxious to take a look at Mars, the planet which of all others is now attracting so much attention. Seen through the 16-inch glass Mars is an especially beautiful object. It appears as large as a full moon, and of course is far more fascinating by its wonderful coloring. Directly on its equator is a vast mass of beautiful green, shading off into an equally beautiful yellow, while the polar regions seem vast masses of snow and ice. The coloring leads one easily to believe that he is gazing upon a large lake, resplendent in gorgeous hues, which are set off in marked contrast by the polar soots.

When the higher powers of the telescope are put in use, the canals, which have attracted so much attention and aroused so much discussion, will clearly be seen, and, as the planet comes nearer and nearer to us, there is no reason to doubt but that important and interesting be seen, and, as the planet comes nearer and nearer to us, there is no reason to doubt but that important and interesting discoveries will be made.

The vividness of certain star clusters has especially delighted Dr. Swift by their distinctness. He expresses himself as charmed beyond measure at the prospect before him, and deems himself the most favored astronomer in the world.

The victors celebrated in the evening by firing anvils, speechifying, etc. The editor of the Olal was so worked up over the issue that he threatened to discontinue the publication of his bright little paper if the bonds failed to carry.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

LOS ANGELES THEATER .- One of the finest audiences of the season greeted the presentation of "Friends" at the Los An-geles Theater last night—an audience that was brilliant in personnel, lively in en-thusiasm and generous in applause. The play shows but slight modification since it was given here last season, and the list of players is almost identical, as will be preachless or anything of that sort. It has some exceedingly strong situations, and the third act is quite as brilliant a bit of melodrama as one can call to mind.

Dit of meiodrama as one can call to mind. The playing of E. D. Lyons in this act, as Hans Otto, the whisky and opium drunkard, is virile and striking to a degree and the player richly carned the rounds of applicate that were accorded him. Mr. Royle is as engagingly natural and debonnair as ever, and early won the house's favor. Mrs. Royle's emotional work is one of the troop feature of the large and the players.

Another step in the direction of cheap power was the incorporation of a company a few days ago to develop electric power from water in the mountains north of Los Angeles and enduct it to the city. There is a large amount of water-power going to waste in the mountains of Southern California, and it is a wonder that more use has not been made of it. So far the only serious attempts in that direction have been at Pomona and Redlands. A great point in favor of such enterprises in Southern California is that after the water has been used for power it can be again made profitable for irrigation.

Altogether, as we have said, the signs are most favorable for a rapid development of the manufacturing industries of Los Angeles from now on, and this will do more than anything else to increase the population of the city. We should not only be able to supply our own wants, but have much to export. Nature has certainly been very kind to this city and section. If our citizens show public spirit, live up to their principles and pull together for the general good, there is no reason whatever why Lo Angeles should not become, within the life-time of many of us, one of the great cities of the North American

TREASONABLE TRAMPS.

Most Americans will be inclined to dismiss the story that comes from Ohio in regard to the "revolutionary" enterprise of "Gen." Frye with smile or a sneer, but for all that the actions of such men as these will bear a little watching on part of the authorities. . The so-called "Industria Army" movement, in which this same man was one of the agitators, was regarded as a farce when it first started, but if the authorities had not begun to treat it seriously it might have developed into a tragedy This man Frye is one of the mos worthless vagabonds who rose to the surface during the "army" movement. He had been driven out of San Fran cisco, where he was accused of embezzling money contributed by his dupes. It is now stated that a secret order is being formed in all the large cities to spring a revolution at the next extensive strike. It is hoped by the boldness of the movement to draw the workingmen, a majority of whom would be loyal to the government into this revolutionary scheme during the excitement and passions of a

It would be interesting to know what the Populists think about this programme. The scheme is said to have been confided to a Populist, and "given away" by him. It is known that the Populists and the men who formed the Industrial Army are in close sympathy. The Oregon State Populist Conven tion adopted resolutions, indorsing these men and condemning the United States Judges who had sentenced some of them and the strikers. Just at this time it is somewhat difficult to say where politics ceases and treason begins, for which reason, as stated, it may be well for the authorities to keep a little watch over peripatetic scalawags of the Frye and Carl Browne type.

According to the telegraphed state ment of Richard D. Blackmore, an English orchardist, good grapes bring 50 cents per pound on an average in the English market; peaches, 50 cents per dozen; and pears 25 to 50 cents per basket. Mr. Blackmore claims that at these prices English fruitgrowers cannot make a fair profit If the gentleman has not been mis quoted, and if his figures are correct. it would seem to be apparent that California fruits can be sent to England and sold at a fair profit to the grower. Transportation charges. though high, ought not to be so excessive as to preclude reasonable profits for both growers and dealers, at these figures. If the California growers could realize one-quarter, or ever one-fifth, of the prices quoted, they ought to be able to export their fruit at a fair profit. The idea of exporting California fruit should not be given up as impracticable until this whole question has been thoroughly

A REACTIONARY "JOURNAL OF tress and disaster of the past eighteen CIVILIZATION."

Harper's Weekly, true to its dyedin-the-wool Mugwumpian and reactionary instincts, has thus early enered the field as an opponent of both McKinley and Reed as Presidential candidates in 1896. This pharisaical and politically-moribund publication sooner indorse the unspeakable infamles of Tammany-though it is professedly opposed to political corruption-than to support so cleanhanded and clear-sighted a statesman as William McKinley, or so cour ageous a leader as Thomas B. Reed. Its opposition to these men lies solely in the fact that they are sincere and beloved leaders of the Republican party, while the "holier-than-thou" leadership which this hair-splitting journal has sought to force upon the Republican party has been often and emphatically repudiated by the party. If anything were needed to insure the election of McKinley or Reed, should either of those gentlemen be nominated, the opposition of Harper's Weekly, and other hee-hawing publi cations of its ilk, would do the business. It has supported everything bad and opposed everything good in politics for the past dozen years, all the time braying with asinine gusto for "reform" and "pure politics." The Republican campaign managers could afford to pay it well for its opposition in 1896. But it will be unneces sary to waste any money for such a nurpose: for this bumptious burro of journalism will be found braying as lustily against Republicanism and Republican candidates in 1896 as ever Gov. McKinley, in his speech at Indianapolis yesterday, pointed out one thase of the new sugar schedule which has thus far escaped notice in the discussion of the Democratic tariff. The latter provides for the continua tion of the reciprocity treaty, which has been in force for nearly twenty years, with the Hawaiian government, by which Hawaiian sugar is admitted free to the United States. As a heavy duty is placed on sugars from all other countries, the effect will be to give the Sugar Trust, which controls the output of Hawalian sugar, a bounty of some $6,000,000 a year on importations from the islands. Our Democratic friends make a great outcry because of the bounty of $10,000,-000 a year to Louisiana sugar-producers, but have not a word of protest against this gift of $6,(AR)(W)) per year to the Sugar Trust. The latter will reap an aggregate benefit of from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 from the new Democratic tariff. The people will pay the bills, in the shape of au increased cost, for sugar, of from $15 to $20, on an average, to each family But then, as diamonds are to be admitted free of duty, perhaps the poor man has no right to kick.

"Commodore Haines," who is rattling around in the hole left in the Democratic county ticket when J. F. Alexander was pulled down, appears to be in very much the same position as the hungry young man who was once invited out to dine with a pious neighbor and who immediately upon being seated at the dining-table began to shovel in the food with knife and "Wait a moment," kindly suggested the host, who wanted to ask blessing on the food, "wait a moment We are always in the habit of saying something before eating at this table. Say anything you d- please, quickly answered the young guest, his cheeks bulging as if he had mumps, "say anything you d-please, you can't turn my stomach."

It is now stated that as long ago as 1878 Mr. Bingham, our Minister to Japan, negotiated a treaty with the Mikado's government, agreeing to recede from the claim of extra-territorial jurisdiction, and allowing Americans in Japan to be tried in Japanese courts. This treaty was to be held in abeyance until such time as other treaty powers should enter into similar treaties with Japan. It has never been abrogated, hence is still in force. and the claim of England that she is the first power to enter into such a treaty is therefore false. If the facts are as stated, the announced plan of Secretary Gresham to negotiate a new treaty is superfluous and unnecessary as are most of the diplomatic schemes originating with the Mugwumpian Secretary of State.

A more or less esteemed coten porary puts forth the idea that John . Altgeld will be President of the United States "if he lives long enough." That event will occur when E. V. Debs is Chief Justice of the Supreme Court; when Johann Most is general of the army; when Gov. Waite is Secretary of State: when Mary Ellen Lease is at the head of the War Department, and when B Duncan is Attorney-General Filit, and both have just cause for pride in having captured him, for he is a criminal of no ordinary caliber.

The specific offenses for which he was indicted in June, 1893, by the Federal grand jury of the western division of the Northern District of Georgia are the embezzlement of $1995.31 money order funds of the La Grange postoffice, $320,76, funds received from the sales of stamps, etc., and the forgery and issuance of three money orders for $100 each, on the Chicago postoffice, payable to A. J. Locke.

Immediately after his arrest yesterday morning, he was escorted to the Federal building, and taken before United States Commissioner Van Dyke, who, after hearing the testimony of Inspector Stuart and the defendant, and examining the certified copy of the indictments produced by the Chicago afficer, reported the facts to Judge Ross. A warrant of removal was promptly issued, and Laird remanded, in default of $5000 ball, to the custody of the Marshal, who delegated Capt. A. W. who delegated Capt. A. W. Barrett and Deputy Rehling to take the prisoner back to Georgia.

Some years ago Laird was a deputy under United States Marshal O. P. Fitzsimmona of the Northern District of Georgia, but resigned to accept a clerkship in the postoffice department at Washington, D. C. He was subsequently transferred, however, to a clerkship in the War Department, but resigned to accept a position of postoffice inspector. While officiating in that capacity one of his daughters was appointed postmistress at La Grange, and he at once returned home to fill the position of assistant postmaster in that office. As such officer, he had access to and control of the books and funds of the Office, and he took advantage of his position by appropriating several thousand dolars. His removal, and the appointment of a successor, however, led him to believe that his peculations were suspected, and, carrying with him the blank money-order books, duly stamped, he field, leaving it to his daughter's bondsmen to settle up his dediciencies.

At various cities where he tarried he cashed forged money orders, and, as he was traveling upon a forged postoffice inspector's commission, it was only necessary for him to spend his actual living expenses. His destination was the Mexicar line, and by easy stages he reached sit without any trouble; but a short residence at Ensenada convinced him that it was no place for a man of his accomplishments, and accordingly he returned to California, and eventually reached and settled here. Of the play itself, one may repeat with genuine pleasure the praiseful things heretofore said of it. It is a play that is full of clouds and sunshine; bits of merriment that sets the laughter rippling about the house; touches of pathos that call up tears; charming snatches of sentiment, wit repartee and a dramatic unity and completeness which shows that its writer has the genuine spark of dramatic genius. "Friends" is a manly and engaging play, one that stra manly and engaging play, one that stra the nobler emotions, but does it without preachiness or anything of that sort. It from school, because they cannot send them decently clad.

The Associated Charities, among other things, has received several gifts of clothing from generous citizens. Perhaps the most substantial donation was received from a small club of children in Garvanza, consisting of Ethel Osborn, Lily Harmischieger. Ethel Good and Emmas King. They sent a large bundle of children's clothes, neatly mended, and some new, all the work on which they had done themselves at their meetings. With the bundle was sent a little note saying that they could send something every month, and had decided that this was the best thing they could do to help others. There is a good deal of practical religion in the children's gifts, and it puts to shame the contented selfishness of a good many for whom 'it would be comparatively easy to give from their store. Royle is as engagingly natural and debonnair as ever, and early won the house's favor. Mrs. Royle's emotional work is one of the strong features of this play and she had a warm reception last night. Mr.
Henderson won an enthusiastic encore for his brilliant plano playing in the recital scene of the second act, but his work as an actor is marred by mannerisms, although he is a most earnest player. There were enthusiastic curtain calls after every act, those following the close of the third being extraordinarily so. As each of the players came upon the stage they were given a most generous reception—one that came spontaneously from the house without the steering of a claque, as is all too often the case.

"Friends" is a brilliant success, and there will be but two more chances to see it this season, tonight and tomorrow evening, when the engagement closes.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Temperance Talk of Mrs. Tupper-

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—(To the Editor of The Times:) I notice that Mrs. Tupper Galpin is lecturing on the "Sec-ondary Causes of Alcoholism," and, speak-ing of workingmen, she is quoted as say-ing: "In the hand of each is the inevitable tin pail containing the noonday meal. Could you examine it you would find it unappetizing, insufficient and in-

In my philosophic walks abroad I have noticed the lunch of these workingmen, while they have been eating it on the roadside and in shops. It is composed of good solid meat and bread and ple and cake. As far as the "unappetizing" portion goes. I have seen them all rush to this lunch as soon as the clock strikes twelve, like boys to play; if it was not appetizing they would not run; they would walk. To perform the severe work they do for several hours afterwards—in fact up to 6 o'clock—it must be nourish-

"The workman's abused body receis and cries out for proper nourishment. He does not understand its demand, but knowing that stimulant will quiet the craving, he resorts to stimulant."

Now the horney-handed son of toll likes a stimulant; nature calls for it, not on a stimulant; nature calls for it, not on account of improper nourishment, poor food, but the natural demand for a beverage to slack thirst and stimulate vitality. Beer and whisky 'do this better than water, hence our salcons are full of workingmen. There always will be the supply, in prohibitory States as well as in nonprohibitory States. The tired laborer demand; there always will be the supply, in prohibitory States. The tired laborer demands these stimulants; the invalid and the aged demand them; they furnish a temporary relief, also, for a lot of unhappiness. I, however, differ from Mrs. Tupper as to the opinion that the workingman has not proper, healthy food and lots of it. The greatest revenue the doctors have are from people who live on the fat of the land, not from the emaciated workmen living on "unappetizing, insufficient and insutritious" food.

Mrs. Tupper Galpin arraigns the physicians for not giving people advice how to live. All well-bred physicians give such advice. Just as all well-conducted and respectable lawyers give advice discouraging iltigation, when, of course, it would pay the lawyers to have the clients litigate. It seems to me that this is the province of the minister more than the doctor; the philosophy of good living, in the mind culture in which they are engaged, the cultivation of faith. "Meng sano in cano corpore" is well known to them. So far as I have known physicians—and I have known a great many and only consulted one professionally—they do give very excellent advice to patients and do all they can, in their humble way, to preserve health and ruin their business.

I also differ from Mrs. Galpin in her advocacy of drudgery—the power to drudge. Instead of an element of strength I regard drudgery as an element of strength I regard drudgery as an element of strength I regard drudgery as an element of strength it seems to descend the security of under the hootie, and was the other to drudge for excape from secondary causes of alcoholism, but entertain a high ambition to control y

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25.—(To the Editor of The Times.) In Monday's issue of The Times is an article from the Amerloan Farmer, in regard to food preserva-tives, and giving a description of a "great French preserving process," said to be patented in this country. In 1880 I obtained letters patent, running seventeen years, for identically the same process, and, as my patent does not expire until 1897, I hardly think the Patent Office would issue another patent before its expiration; in fact, I do not chink they could do so. As far as preserving qualities go, there has as yet because iliberty, but, in an evil moment, he wrote letters to his family, and the result was that he was run to earth.

Several Donations of Clothing Already Sent In.

As the winter season draws nearer the need for clothing for the poor increases in proportion. My object in noticing this matter was more to bring before your readers something in the same line, in which they are more directly interested. I mean the wholesale poisoning of our milk supply with salleylic acid, boracic acid, etc. Of course, I do not mean to charge that all those who bring milk to the city use these preservatives, but the first-named is used by a great many. The churning incident to long trips, and the rapid delivery to different parts of the city-naturally makes the milk sour quite rapidly, and the dairymen are naturally anxious to get something that will overcome this difficuity, but the practice should be discouraged by all consumers. If a preservative must be used, it is far safer to use he sulphur dioxide (that is, the gas arising from the burning sulphur.) than to indulge in the indiscriminate use of safelyitic acid, but if the milkimen will give us pure, undoctored milk, they would receive the thanks of all lovers of good, pure lacteal fluid, and especiality of the bables.

A BROKEN LATERAL.

The Howard and Bixby Conduit is Badly Damaged.

Lateral No. 1, connected with the outfall sewer, recently constructed by Howard & Bixby as a conduit for sewage, to be used for irrigation purposes, was found Monday to be considerably damaged in at least two places by being broken. In one place the conduit, which is of concrete, four inches in thickness and not far from thirty inches in diameter, was broken away on the side for a distance of about forty fest.

At that place the conduit is supported a few feet above ground by means of concrete arches supported on concrete piers. From what appeared to have been the pressure of the water the conduit was broken off, and at the same time the face of the piers and arches was split for some distance down.

Altough it looks like quite a serious wreck, it is stated that the damage can probably be repaired at no great expense.

A number of interesting preliminaries have been arranged, consisting of two or three goes between local boxers, wrestling and fancy club swinging.

This is the first of a series of entertainments to be given by the club coring the fall and coming winter.

John Brink, the heavy-weight champion of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, received last week the following telegram from W. J. Kennedy, superintendent of the Olympic Club, San Francisco:

"John Brink: Will you box W. Keneally six rounds October 22 for $75 prige?"

It will be remembered Mr. Brink was to represent the local club at the Olympic boxing tournament last August, but an accident prevented. An effort is being made to bring the men together to decide the heavy-weight championship of the two clubs, but Mr. Brink, on account of business engagements, is unable to accept the offer of the San Francisco club, in consequence of which the Los Angeles club ham made the following liberal offer:

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25, 1894.

Secretary of Olympic Club, San Francisco—My Dear Sir: At the present writing it will be impossible for Mr. Brink to accept the offer of your club, owing to business affairs here. But we will allow Mr. Keneally $75 for his expenses if he will come to Los Angeles for a six-round go with Mr. Brink two weeks notice. And further, we will give a suitable prize. THOSE SCHOOL DOARD DEMANDS

Mr. Platt's Action is Causing Much Comment.

The peculiar action of Mr. Platt in refusing to approve a portion of the demands presented at the meeting of the school board Monday night caused a good deal of comment about the City Hall yesterday. It was remarked as strange that he should not state what particular demand or demands he would not vote for.

One of the demands was for window shades, and it was thought that the recollection of a certain deal in this kind of goods several months ago, with which certain members of the board were connected unpleasantly, caused him to hesitate to approve such a demand.

Among the demands for office salarles was one of Superintendent Search for his salarly for the portion of September he is serving, amounting to fiss. 35. The opinion seemed to prevail that the member from the Third Wagal is resorting to this means to prevent the Superintendent from receiving his money.

The manner in which the board approved the bills Monday night is quite harshiv criticised. Instead of allowing the demands after they had been approved by the Finance Committee, as is invariably done in the Council, the board aproved them, subject to the approval of the Finance Committee. There seems to be no law which would render bills approved in this manner illegal, yet the precedent is considered a dangerous one to establish.

THE CRUST OF SOCIETY.

Unfortunates Who Appeared in the Police Court Yesterday.

Nora Burden, a buxom colored woman, appeared before Justice Austin again yesterday charged with drunkenness. Whisky is Nora's great failure and she imbibes often and liberally of the firewater. When she becomes hilariously drunk her 280 pounds of flesh ceases to be an impediment to active motion and she prances around like a ten-year-old boy, much to the annoyance of her neighbors who are obliged to send for the "hurry-up" wagon in order to restore peace. Nora made a bad break yesterday when she told Justice Austin that she "nevah had been in de lockup afore," and her disregard for the truth cost her just about $2, for the justice imposed a $7 fine instead of the usual $5 tax. The woman was taken out of jail in the afternoon and she went home to recuperate pending another spree.

He National Soldiers' Home is an in-The National Soldiers' Home is an institution which has easily gained a very warm place in the affections of the people of the country, and is performing a service, in caring for the nation's defenders, at once just, generous and commendable. The name of Soldiers' Home is applied to all the establishments collectively, and each separate institution is called a branch, that near Santa Monica being known as the Pacific branch. A compariknown as the Pacific branch. A compari-son of location, management and other matters between the different branches shows many advantages for our local branch, and it is with these points that this article is intended to deal.

The grounds of the Pacific branch embrace 634 acres of land in one body, the mortheastern portion of which is a small part of the famous frostless foothills of the Cahuenga-Valley. The view from this point is particularly interesting, as it not only commands a full view of the very productive valley to the east and south of the home, but also fully fifty miles of the ocean frostage and the cities of Los Angeles and Santa Monica. The home has, in addition to a large vegetable garden, an excellent young orchard, containing in all about 3100 fruit and wainut trees. The ornamental trees of from two to four years' growth, and from ten to sixty feet in height, number about 12,000, besides which there are some 900 ornamental shrubs. The different kinds of fruit trees, and the number of each, are: One hundred and twenty-two peach, 425 orange, 110 pear, 210 fig. 225 lemon, and 1640 apple. In this climate the fig trees yield three crops per annum. The shade and ornamental trees embrace pepper, eucalyptus, (five varieties,) cypress (four varieties,) prine (four varieties,) greyfillar robusta, chryptomeria, date and fan palmerythrara, chameropo, two varieties of dracenia, three of cedar, three of arancaria; two of sequoia, magnolia grandifiora, cork elm, catalpa, loquat, horse chestnut, Australian flame, American linden, Texas umbrella, Russian mulberry, weeping willow, camphor tree, Kentucky coffee tree, three varieties of acacia, two of leander, Irish juniper, three varieties of pittisporum, taxis Hibernica, fir, jackaranda, silver tree, strawberry guava, ligistrum japonica, and three varieties of arbor vitae; some sixty-two varieties in all. The varieties of shrubs are callycanthus, hydrangia paniculata, lemon verbena, two varieties of hydrangia and hibisous coccolocia, wenty-eight in all. The nursery also contains a large stock of all these trees and shrubs of young growth, and the grounds are beautifully orn made to supply 400,000 gallons per day of twenty-four hours. The supply can be greatly increased if it should ever be needed.

The elevation of the land at the dininghall is 385 feet above the level of the sea, while at the reservoir in the foothills it is over five hundred feet. This height gives to the location the very cream of the grand climate of Southern California, that of the Cahuenga foothills, which is cooler in summer and warmer in winter than at any other locality, and is absolutely frostless.

A comparison of the statistics of the various branches shows that the maintenance of the Pacific branch costs considerably less than the average of all the branches, and less than the average of all the branches, and less than the average of any other branch save one. The average cost per capita at Santa Monica last year was $136.24, and while we have no data from the other branches for the same year, the annual report not having been published, yet we find that the average cost at all the branches for the year ending June 30, 1893, was $140.95, which is evidently an indication that the facts of the advantageous prices at which supplies of products which are raised at the home, and the salubrity of the climate, tending greatly to the maintenance of good health, thereby decreasing largely the cost incident to sickness, all combine to render it possible to conduct a branch here at less cost than anywhere else.

The cost of rations per day at the Pacific branch during the last quarter was but a fraction over 16 cents for each inmate, which was 1½ cents lower than the cost at any other branch at any time.

In the matter of the death rate, taking the statistics for the same year, it is found that the ratio of deaths to the thousand inmates is less at the Pacific branch han the average of all branches, and less than any other save one, at which place the average age of the inmates of the Pacific branch than the severage age of the inmates of the Pacific branch than the series of the bound less than at their place i dicated the great interest that prevails in the work of this association. The meeting was opened by singing "I gave My life for thee." Mrs. Mathuss read from the sixteenth chapter of Mark, from the ninth to the twentieth verses. Prayer was offered by Rev. C. S. Vaile.

Mrs. Gov. Beveridge spoke first. She took for her subject "Go ye into all the world and preach the word to every creature." "Ye have chosen not Me, but I have chosen you and ordained you." Mrs. Beveridge said: "They were to go and preach to all nations, making Christians in all nations. Of all military orders this must have seemed most improbable, that the eleven men who had been gathered at the feet of the Master could carry the gospel to all the world then known. But they did carry it so well, notwithstanding the vicissitudes and weariness of travel in small and unsafe vessels, through deserts and tolling over mountains on foot, that now, with a world of 1.700,000,000 inhabitants and an area of 200,000,000 square miles, there are few nations that have not heard the joyful tidings."

"They were to preach the gospel that Christ gave them. The gospel of repentance and faith, not science, literature or theology. They should be good soldiers and have that spirit of implicit obedience to their Commander, who would ask nothing unreasonable of them.

"This was the beginning of foreign mission work, and was done by divinely-commissioned, self-sacrificing men, who counted their lives not dear to them."

Then Mrs. Beveridge reminded her hearers that the very first message from the risen Christ was intrusted to a woman, and so "we have a right to feel that it so our privilege to teach the plain and simple story of the cross." She spoke of the responsibility that was upon us to live rightly, as we could never tell where our influence would end.

"Anywhere with Jesus" was sung at the closing of Mrs. Beveridge's beautiful address.

Dr. Chichester said: "Go ye . . . for I am with you." My friends, that is the reason I am a Christian and a Christian minister. B

The meeting yesterday opened by singing "More about Jesus," followed by prayer by Miss Mindora L. Berry of San Francisco.

The topic for the day was "Liberality the Exact Measure of Spirituality." The speakers for the day were Mrs. Dr. Seymour and Rev. A. W. Rider.

Mrs. Seymour spoke first and said that she was thankful for the privilege of speaking to the Y.W.C.A. and for the lesson of faith they had taught her. It had been her thought when the organization was begun that no more societies were needed in this line of work, but the glorious work that the young women were been great enough to start it. The influence of it was being felt in every part of the city.

"My Jesus I love Thee," was then sung and prayer was offered by Mrs. Averill and Mrs. Chapin.

Mr. Rider then spoke and, comparing three passages, Luke vi. 38; Matthew vil. 2, and Mark iv. 24, said: "Some one has said, "We get out of God's service just what we put into it.' How little he gets out of it who makes it a hard, unwilling service, who nerves himself to do the little that he does as if it were a mighty task. But to him who puts into it his whole soul he finds abundant measure and finds that God's love overflows everywhere, and that there is no exact measure that can contain God's love that comes in answer to the heart opened to receive it."
Today's subject and speakers are as follows: "Soul Winning," Mrs. T. P. Ferguson, Rev. J. W. Campbell.

Ladies and gentlemen invited at 12 o'clock sharp.

AN INQUEST HELD.

The Cause of Correa's Death is Legally Established.

Gally Established.

Coroner Cates held an inquest on the remains of Joše Correa, who was murdered by Casper Valezuela Monday evening, yesterday afternoon, the verdict returned by the jury being that the deceased came to his death from the effects of gunshot wounds inflicted by Valezuela. The testimony showed merely that the men had quarreled and that bad blood existed between them for some time. A. Mendoza, the Mexican who had accompanied Correa, was unable to give any very tangible story of how the shooting occurred, and the particulars issamed thus far are, in substance, as related by Valenzuela himself, for there were no eye witnesses.

STATUE OF THE REPUBLIC COURT OF HONOR WORLD'S COLUMBIAN

The World's Columbian Exposition marked the climax of human achievement. It will live in memory of the crowning glory of modern times. No other development of the closing century can compare with it in practical benefit to mankind.

Who that exhibited is not proud of it? Who that failed to exhibit does not regret the omission? The former are the people of to-day. The latter are relics of the past.

No honor so high as that embodied in an award at the fair. Competition was world-wide, the fruits of ripest experience and noblest endeavors were submit-. ted for examination.

Honest tribunals, composed of eminent scientists, examined and passed upon the claims of exhibitors. Their judgement based on inquiry and justice, proves conclusively the value of any article they commend.

Their approval was stamped on

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

It received the highest award at the fair from a jury headed by the Chief Chemist of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Dr. Price's was officially commended for highest leavening power, purity, keeping qualities and general excellence.

The Sons of St. George gave a reception at Caledonian Hall last evening, which was attended by the full membership on the order, and several talented friends. Pathetic and comic, semi-pathetic and semi-comic songs were sung by Messrs. Popel, Hayes, Sharp and Horsfield. Whist was the principal game, seventeen quartettes taking purt. Refreshments were served on the sideboard, the losing side in the last club election giving the supper. At midnight the brethren separated, having greatly enjoyed one more of their famous stag parties. Another sociable will be held the last Monday in October.

The Royal Baking Powder is the purest and strongest baking powder made, and has received the highest award at all the international and State fairs, er exhibited in competition with others.

The judge of awards on baking powder at the late Chicago fair, Prof. H. W. Wiley, writes that the impertinent claims of other companies, that they received the highest award for strength and purity are false; that no such awards were given them.

Before adjournment the Mayor requested the members of the board, also Chief Glass and Clerk Robinson, to step into his private office. The reporters, the Mayor said, could remain outside. After the members of the board had been in secret session for a few minutes, City Engineer Dockweller strolled in, and the Mayor started to eject him. Mr. Dockweller, however, succeeded in turning off a right angle and running a level out of the doorway before the city's chief magistrate could use physical force on him.

The board immediately adjourned after emerging from the private meeting. Not one word of information, however, would any of the Commissioners bestow upon the men who were trying to find out for the benefit of the public what was going on. It was afterward reported the Commissioners were considering certain matters in connection with some of the officers.

CONFERENCE BETWEEN COUNCILMEN AND SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS.

the report made by my predecessor under date of November 10, 1893, the building needs of the city schools have been intensified and should be reconsidered in the light of present greater necessities. I beg leave to offer the following recommendations:

"First-All buildings shall be located with reference to future convenience, tak-ing into consideration also the possible location of buildings subsequently to be ling into consideration also the possible erected.

"Second—The plan of erecting small buildings should be discontinued. Small buildings should be discontinued. Small buildings sall for an expensive administration, and subsequent enlargement can fill the city only with unsightly architecture. Even the eight-room building is not ideal. The needs of the kindergarten and the primary grades call for ten and twelve-room, buildings in order to provide for all grades below the ninth and in one school.

"Third—I question the propriety of putting large sums of money in an old building, when a new one would in every way be more satisfactory for future necessities.

"Fourth—The City Council should be urged to supplement the aggregate of specific apportionments by a sufficient sum to provide for all underestimates and emergencies not herein taken into consideration.

"Fourth—The building of an industrial high school in the vicinity of Seventh street or Eighth street and Broadway. This building should cost $100,000, with the addition of $20,000 for equipment, and also enough for purchase of grounds. It should be the pride of the city. A cheaper building could be erected, but it would not be large enough for more than present demands. This building should contain an auditorium, gymnasium, offices of the not be large enough for more than present demands. This building should contain an auditorium, gymnasium, offices of the superintendent and Board of Education, besides other necessary laboratories and classrooms. This building might be erected on the Spring-street lot, in which case the present Spring-street school could be accommodated by the twelve-room building, as specified in recommendation No. 5, and also by a twelve-room building in the vicinity of Fifth and Olive streets. In any event the industrial high school should be located near the city center, and be a public advertisement of the city's and be a public advertisement of the city's "Fliteenth—In case it is thought best to abandon the Spring-street school for preaent purposes, I recommend the erection of a twelve-room building in the vicinity of Fifth and Olive streets, as already referred to in recommendation No. 4. My judgment is against the placing of another story upon the Spring-street school, believing that 'it would be expensive and not produce what we want. I would prefer to apply the $35,000 or more saved by such plan to the erection of an industrial high school.

"This will provide eighty-six rooms besides the new High School, which should contain at least twenty rooms besides the auditorium, gymnasium and offices.

"Respectfully submitted.

"P. W. SEARCH,

"Superintendent of City Schools."

The recommendations having been submitted Mr. Stein expressed the opinion that the decision at this time as to where the various amounts shall be expended out of the bond issue will not be binding. When the last bond issue was made, he said, there was to be a school building erected at Fourth and Los Angeles streets. That building was never put up however.

Mr. Trask advocated, as he has done on previous occasions, building no more small schoolhouses. The proportionate expense, even with a poorer equipment, is much greater.

Councilman Munson inquired whether provision has been considered for the territory in the neighborhood of the Bonnie Brae tract, where the population is rapidly increasing.

President Pepper said the matter has been considered, and it is believed the Tenth street and Union avenue schools will accomodate the pupils in that neighborhood for some time if only the approaches to those schools be properly arranged.

After further consideration a committee was appointed, consisting of Councilmen Rhodes and Munson said he thought the necessary arrangements to present the matter to the City Council at an early date. Councilman Munson said he thought the necessary estimates may be prepared and the ordinance drawn so that the Council can pass it next Monday.

The meeting thereupon adjourned.

It was Eighteenth street instead of Sixteenth street, as was erroneously printed. Now that the salaries of police officers have been raised by the Council, a movement is on foot to raise the salaries of the members of the fire department also. It is argued that, in order to be on the same basis as the office, the men should be higher paid. The engineers now receive $90 par month, and the drivers $70 per month.

He told Officer Woodward, when questioned by him, that he had heard no shots; in but subsequently told Attorney Film in the jail that he had heard one.

It was further shown that Woodward turned his prisoner over to Deputy Marshal Frank Taylor and M. G. Durand, who started into town with him, but that he attempted to escape from them, and was handcuffed by Officer Stephenson near the Buena Visia-street bridge, and escorted to jail on an electric car. To these men Patterson at that time depied having done the shooting, but claimed that his partner did it "to scare the boys."

It was proven by the proprietor of a livery stable on the East Side that Patterson alone hired the rig, for the purpose of driving out of town for three or four miles, at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of July 12.

But the most damaging piece of evidence was reserved for the last. That was the proof that Patterson had purchased the shotgun and ammunition at 5 o'clock that evening from W. S. Windham, the clerk at a Pasadena hardware store, who read-life in the store of the st alleged to have been sustained by reason of the negligence of defendant's employees.

The plaintiff was represented by Measrs. Huston & Welborn, while the defendant's interests were looked after by Measrs. Graves, O'Meiveny & Shank'and and Pillsbury & Hayne of San Francisco.

In his complaint the plaintiff alleged that on May 22, 1883, while engaged in whitewashing a building on Banning street, and standing upon a scaffold about eight feet from the ground, one of defendant's wagons was careleasly driven and collided with said scaffolding, knocking it down, precipitating him to the ground; that in his fall plaintiff was crushed against a brick wall and received such injuries as to permanently disable him, to his damage in the sum of $19,000.

Nine witnesses were examined during the day's session on behalf of the plaintiff, to support his view of the car. The most important of them, however, was Dr. West Hughes, who attended Carter after his accident. The plaintiff, a well-built, medium-sized negro was stripped to the waist for the benefit of the jury, and the physician, armed with a scout pin, jabbed it into the plaintiff, a feet, back, arms and face, without producing any effect, thus showing conclusively that, except for a few spots, which were designated by the doctor, he was paralyzed. The unfortunate plaintiff was also shown to have no control of his muscles under certain conditions, and the inevitable results of spinal injury were illustrated in various ways.

It proved to be that of Unche Myers, an Indian boy, 22 years of age. Young Myers was a familiar figure upon the streets, and especially about the Santa Fe depot, more noticeable because he was subject to fits, and would, without any apparent cause, drop suddenly upon the ground, and lie sprawling and waving his arms, as though in distress, finally dropping off into a doze or state of unconsciousness, from which he would recover in the course of half or three-quarters of an hour. It is thought that he fell into the flume in one of these fits, or dropped his hat in, and in endeavoring to recover it fell in and was carried like a dart into the drop-pipe, where he fell thirty-two feet to the tubes at the bottom, killing him instantly, and badly cutting his face and head.

COUNTY TAX LEVY.

The County Supervisors consumed almost the whole time of yesterday in discussing and fixing the tax levy, and finally fixed the rate at $1.65 per $100 assessed valuation. Last year the rate was $1.85, but for a period of about four months over a year. Although the rate is below that of last year by 20 cents, and looks much better, the actual rate, considering the period for which it must suffice, as compared with last year, is no better, perhaps. The estimated rate made by the County Auditor, based upon the estimated cost of the various departments, furnished in most instances by the officers of the several departments, was $1.85, and upon one estimate of the needs of the county it was put at $1.91. WORK FOR THE PAVILION EXHIBIT,

The Orange County Fair Association is particularly desirous of making the exhibit of agricultural and borticultural products this year larger and finer than the county has ever heretofore shown. It is espetially desired for the reason that the past year has been a very dry one all over the State and, as a result, very many portions of the State will not likely make much of a display.

In this county, however, this lack of rain has had but very littly effect on the maturing crops of grain, vegetables and fruits, for the reason that in most portions of the valley there is such a perfect system of irrigation, both natural and artificial, that it mathers but Hitle whether or not the rainfall for one or more seasons is up to the average. This being the case the crops this year have not materially suffered from the dry spell, and there is an opportunity, therefore, for the residents of the county to show the thousands ostrangers who will be in the city durins fair week, the productions of the county. The excellent race programme will bring many strangers to this city from all portions of the State, and many, no doubt, from Oregon and Arizona; thus will there be an unusual opportunity to display the products of the soil of the county. It is an opportunity that should not be allowed to pass by, and from the interest the association is taking in that department now, it looks as if it would not be neglected. Its success, however, depends more on the farmers than with the members of thar association, and unless the resident, from the country take an active interest in the matter, the exhibit will not likely be as representative of the county's resources as it should be.

SOME SOUND ADVICE.

The Orange Post in its recent issue has the following sound advice for the defeated candidates for nomination in the late Republican County Convention:

"Some of the defeated candidates and their friends are trying to soothe their wounded feelings by talking about slates, combines and trades. From all we can learn the convention was composed of representative Republicans, untrammeled by pledges, who did their duty like men. These same candidates may prove their own unfitness for the places they sought by whining over their failure; but they will not convince the disinterested voters of the truth of their charges about slates or that the ticket would be improved by having their names in place of their successful competitors on it. They are being tried by adversity and, if they show themselves brave and loyal Republicans, their time may come later; but, if by wor'd or deed they betray their own weakness or in any way endanger the success of the best ticket ever placed before the voters of Orange county, they will find their level in the public estimation as place-seekers without principle. Men—and women, too—like manly men, who can take a blow as well as give one, who are true to their professions whether in the sunshine or in the shadow. Brace up, gentlemen, show your metal, take off your coats and work for the success of the ticket."

WANTS LAND IN CALIFORNIA. WANTS LAND IN CALIFORNIA.

A letter of inquiry has been received in this city from the representative of an English syndicate asking for information in regard to large tracts of land, from twenty to fifty thousand acres, in this portion of the State, that are well watered, or accessible to irrigation, to be used for manufacturing and noionizing purposes. The writer also states that he desires the land to be at least ten miles from any town. From this it is evident that it is the intention of the party to start a town on the property purchased.

There are several large tracts of land in Orange county suited to the purposes of the syndicate, and if they could all be colonized and settled up, the country would improve as it has never done before. Some of Orange county's rustling real-estate men would do well to look this matter up.

The many ex-lowa people in this region have eagerly scanned the reports of the terrible cyclone that devastated northern counties in that State last Friday night. The region visited has been wind-stricken heretofore, Friday night's storm being less than seventy-five miles from the townsite of Pomeroy, which was almost wiped out a year or so ago. Henry Chamberlain, listed among the injured of Friday night's storm, is a brother of Miss Chamberlain, primary teacher in the Santa Monica schools. Many others horeabouts have friends in the territory contiguous to the fatalities. The writer of this correspondence lived for many years in an adjoining county to Kossuth, where nineteen funerals of storm victims occurred on Sunday. No damage was done. The lively tilt of the Suprvisors over the County Hospital affair continues to excite much comment in this city. He dropped in at the local power-house in passing, and, after a scrutinizing survey, sought out the englaner and told him that he had never stepped inside a cleaner or more or-derly-kept house in all his years of ex-perience.

The Democrats say that they have finished juggling with their ticket, and while they have some faith in the fusion candidates it is plain to see that the general out-look to them is anything but encouraging. Messrs. Budd and Jeter came in from Pomona yesterday and left for Pasadena last evening, where they both presented their records to the few followers of Tammany who live out at the Crown City.
